Introduction

A koala is a marsupial not a bear. They are native to Australia.

Koalas look like a little cute bear . They have sharp claws to climb up trees. They have big fluffy ears and they have very fluffy body's .

Koala habitat .

Koalas live in Australia and they sleep in trees.

Description

Koalas eat eucalyptus leaves. Koalas are omnivorous; this means they only eat plants. Koalas' predators are dogs and large owls and often they get killed by cars . Koalas are nocturnal so they are only active at night. They sleep for a long time each day. They are very lazy animals and they sleep between two tree branches.

Conclusion

I think koalas are cute and cuddly but a bit evil. I would like to see one sometime.
